

TRAVELBASH

FLIGHT RECOMMENDATIONS

Flight Guidelines

The following chart serves as a general guideline. Please note that these are averages & there will always be variances. Please let this serve as a helpful guide, as I don't work for the airlines & can't predict the future!

DOMESTIC

65-90 DAYS OUT

SOUTH AMERICA

80 DAYS OUT

MEXICO/CARIBBEAN

150 DAYS OUT

EUROPE

180 DAYS OUT

ASIA

200 DAYS OUT

Tips & Tricks

- First flight of the day is usually the cheapest—say hello to those 5/6am flights
- Tuesday, Wednesday & Saturday are the cheapest days to fly.
- Best time to purchase: Tuesday is no longer the way to get a great deal. According to Expedia, Sunday is the cheapest day of the week to book flights and comes out 36% cheaper based on data but if you can afford the price you see and feel comfortable purchasing, that is the day we recommend you to buy.
- Always look at nearby airports where you live, especially in a major city for the best pricing.
- Set up airfare alerts to be notified of price drops & special fares.
- REMOVE always clear cookies...That is a myth.
- Airlines we recommend you stay far away from: Spirit and Frontier. We know these seem like you are getting a deal because they are budget airlines but we can share horror stories from people that have chosen them. If we wouldn't fly them, then we will not tell you either.
- Skip the lines at the airport by enrolling in:
 - Global Entry (for re-entry into the USA)
 - TSA PreCheck
 - Clear
- Stay away from checking bags if at all possible.
- Look for non-stop flights rather than connecting flights.

Go-To Apps & Websites

 airfordable

 airfarewatchdog™

momondo

 Skyscanner

Google

KAYAK

 hopper